

PRESS RELEASE
Brussels, 5 April 2019

Brussels will be getting in a festive mood with the Electro Night and concerts 100% made in Belgium

In addition to the many activities offered from 1-5 May to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Brussels-Capital Region and 150 years of the tram, the Iris Festival will also be show-piecing the music scene. On Friday, the revellers and other electronic music lovers will take control of the biggest dance floor in Brussels. On Saturday, an evening of 100% Belgian concerts will also take place on the Place des Palais.

From 1-5 May, the Brussels-Capital Region will celebrate its 30th anniversary and 150 years of the Brussels tram. Among the hundreds of free events on offer, Electro Night and the concerts at Place des Palais have become an unmissable part of this festive weekend.

For several years, Brussels has seen the emergence of a quality electro scene. A number of talented DJ's will add sparkle to the various parties and bars in the capital. The Iris Festival is thus launching a contest to allow one of them to strut their stuff at the Place des Palais in the first part of the Electro Night.

Electro Night

Once again this year, electronic music lovers will be able to gather at the Place des Palais during Electro Night, which is once again featuring some stunning Belgian and international headliners.

The confirmed artists:

Claptone (DE), Ofenbach (FR), Nora en Pure (CH), Stereoclip (BE), Laura De Greef (BE)

New feature:

This year, the Iris Festival is launching a contest to enable one of Brussels' own DJs to kick-start the opening of Electro Night. (More info to come at: <http://irisfestival.brussels/electro-night>)

Concerts - Party night 100% made in Belgium

On Saturday evening, several artists from the Belgian scene will be performing on the podium at the Place des Palais.

The artists already confirmed are:

Girls in Hawaii, Todiefor and Blu Samu

A 4th big name will be announced very soon.
